

GuyTalk@Alternativechoices:

Networking for Fathers of Children with Autism and other Special Needs

This is our 4th year of a free community service hosted by psychologist, author, and parent Robert Naseef—open to fathers and male service providers. We hangout informally and share food while we talk about the struggles and triumphs of fathers. We will support fathers from the newly diagnosed to adulthood sharing advice, perspective, and sometimes even feelings.

We will hang out 6:30-8:00 PM on the following Wednesdays: September 14, October 12, November 9, December 14, 2016.

Please bring a snack or nonalcoholic beverage to share:
