

What is SNUGS?

SNUGS is a non-profit, national organization, with a student group chapter of the organization at the University of Pennsylvania. Our group's core mission will focus on decreasing the number of drownings amongst children with special needs, which is the #1 cause of death for children with intellectual disabilities. By providing free swim instruction, we believe we can make a huge difference.

Why you should sign up:

1. We provide free swim lessons. They are personalized one-on-one lessons to provide water safety and technique to children of all experience levels.
2. We are a well established organization. We are currently active at Yale University, University of California-Davis, Amherst College, Cornell University, Georgetown University, Rutgers University, MIT and Wagner College and are still expanding.
3. Our trained and experienced volunteer swim instructors are all undergraduate students at the University of Pennsylvania and are ready to cater specifically to every child's needs.

Where: Pottruck Health and Fitness Center in University City Philadelphia

When: Sundays, starting early October

Time: TBA
